many snap chat features are straightforward while others like the snap score require a little explaining for people to comprehend how they work so how does snap score work it is a scoring system used by app developers to rank snapchat users for example a user can tell whether they have been spending too much time on the app or not through the score some things that can earn remarkable user achievements include using particular filters achieving a certain score sending creative snaps or even when a user s story is posted on live story other users can use this information to determine how active and popular you are on snapchat as previously stated sending and receiving snaps contributes to your snapchat point accumulation snaps sharing is the only way to get up in the rankings if you send or receive direct messages you will not earn any points avoid sending or opening chat messages that have been received if you look at how the app looks you ll notice that it differs from other social networking apps it doesn t have any navigation at all you just swipe left or right to go between sections icons without labels control the app s operations and buttons it has the unique feature of maintaining snapchat score the more you have that score the cooler your impression gets snapchat is quite a popular social media platform among teenagers most teenager every day uses snapchat to create their snap and stories if you re among those snapchat users you might be aware of snapchat scores and how people spend hours to increase their snapchat scores in fact they ve just been incredibly active on snapchat which has boosted their score significantly posting your story numerous times a day and interacting with your snapchat friends regularly can boost your score faster than you would expect the world is getting more deviates towards online things and we are more specified into social media than anything else life has become more compact and this has caused a growing number of applications into our knowledge in recent years many social platforms have grown out but snapchat is one that has drawn the attention of many people
