

Sponsorship Application
Animal Health Technologies Partnering Forum
Hosted by Kansas State University and Auburn University
August 27 – 28, 2019
Crowne Plaza Kansas City Downtown
Kansas City, Missouri

In an effort to develop closer relationships between university technology transfer offices and companies, AUTM brings together industry and academia in the animal health technology sector. In this Partnering Forum's interactive, reverse showcase, industry representatives explain the technologies and types of interactions they seek. Universities review their own portfolios and respond to each company's specific needs. It's a unique opportunity for one-on-one networking between industry and academia pursuing commercialization of animal health research.

Sponsor this collaborative AUTM event and you'll be supporting the learning, sharing and networking that bring innovations to the public.
