AUTM Partnering Forum on Infectious Disease and Global Health
Hosted by Emory University
November 1-2, 2018
Emory Conference Center Hotel · Atlanta, GA

In an effort to develop closer relationships between university technology transfer offices and companies, AUTM is bringing together industry and academia in target technology sectors. The highlight of each partnering forum is an interactive reverse showcase where industry representatives will explain the technologies and types of interactions they are seeking. The universities attending will review their portfolio and respond to each company's specific needs.
